The Summer Occupational Therapy Immersion (SOTI) program at the University of Southern California is a four-week course specially designed for international occupational therapy students and practitioners who are interested in studying or working in the United States. This program aims to:

• Familiarize students with occupational therapy practice in the United States through lectures and visits to pediatric, adult physical rehabilitation and mental health practice settings;

• Introduce students to occupational science and to USC's cutting-edge research programs;

• Facilitate the development of a more global perspective of OT, health and wellness;

• Provide opportunities to network with USC's expert faculty members and with fellow international therapists.

Students admitted to USC’s post-professional master’s degree program are also encouraged to apply.

USC housing is provided at no additional cost.
